Meeting customers' essential needs during lengthy tarmac delays

We are committed to operating a reliable schedule for our customers. Safety considerations, weather, air traffic control, operations, and other factors may occasionally cause lengthy tarmac delays. We have a Tarmac Delay Contingency Plan and the necessary resources and processes in place to minimize such delays. Our plan has been coordinated with the airport authorities at all U.S. airports we serve and at designated U.S. diversion airports, with U.S. Customs and Border Protection at U.S. airports regularly used for our international flights, and with the Transportation Security Administration at U.S. airports we serve, including diversion airports. Should a lengthy tarmac delay occur, we will make every reasonable effort to ensure your essential needs are met. If safety and security considerations permit, this includes providing snack food and drinking water no later than two hours after the aircraft leaves the gate (in the case of a departure) or touches down (in the case of an arrival), operable restroom facilities, and adequate medical attention if needed.

We also understand that our customers want timely and up-to-date information during lengthy tarmac delays. As such, we will update customers on the delayed flight exceeds 30 minutes. Timely subsequent updates may be provided thereafter, including flight status changes, as deemed appropriate while the aircraft is delayed, including the reason(s) for the tarmac delay, if known. In the situation where an aircraft is boarded and remains parked at the gate or remote location with the aircraft door open and an actual means to deplane exists, Air Wisconsin will notify passengers on board the aircraft that passengers have the opportunity to deplane each time the opportunity to deplane exists at a suitable disembarkation point for all departing flights and diversions. However, customers deplane at their own risk and the flight may depart without them.

Treating customers fairly and consistently in the case of oversales

When traveling on an Air Wisconsin Airlines flight operated on behalf of American Airlines (as American Eagle); occasionally, you may not be provided with a seat on a specific flight, even if you hold a ticket, have checked in, are present to board on time, and comply with other requirements. This is called an oversale and occurs when restrictions apply to operating a particular flight safely (such as aircraft weight limits); when we must substitute a smaller aircraft in place of a larger aircraft that was originally scheduled; or if more customers have checked in and are prepared to board than we have available seats.

If your flight is in an oversale situation, you will not be denied a seat until the gate agent first asks for volunteers willing to give up their confirmed seats. If there are not enough volunteers, the deny boarding of passengers is in accordance with our flying partner boarding priority policy. These rules are followed to ensure you are treated fairly. Please be aware, you may be denied boarding without compensation if you do not check in on time or do not meet certain other requirements, or if other alternative transportation is offered that is planned to arrive at your destination or first stopover no later than one hour after the planned arrival time of your original flight.
